A LARGE ESTATE INVOLVED.

CHARGES MADE AGAINST THE EXECU-TORS.

COLLUSION AND EMBEZZLEMENT ALLEGED IN CONNECTION WITH THE I ROPERTY LEFT BY BENJAMIN RICHARDSON.

Charges of gross mismanagement, collusion and embezzlement were made before Judge Cullen, o the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday, by M. Cleiland Milnor, a lawyer, against Mrs. Emma Richardson and William T. Washburne, as executors of the estate of Benjamin Richardson, who died on February 29, 1889. The charges were made on the application of J. B. Richardson and other heirs. Benjamin Richardson was the owner of Krubb's patent steam fire-engine and of large parcels of real estate in Brooklyn. Horace G. Wood, of this city, was his attorney. It is alleged that three weeks before his death he executed a codicil to his will, which supplanted William T. Washburne and the wife, Emma Richardson, as extors. The codicil, it is alleged, was given by Mr. Richardson to his niece to be delivered to Mr. Wood, his attorney. It was never filed, however, and Mr. Washburne and the widow became the executors. It is alieged that $840,000 has so far been paid out by the executors in disbursement, but fines are allowed to accumulate, and, in short, that the estate is wasted.

Up to the time of Wood's death, in June, 1893, he had received from the executors, according to their account, the sum of $55,000. Since that time his account, the sum of $55,000. Since that time his widow, as administrator, has sued the estate for $125,000. for services rendered by her husband to the executors, and for $12,000 for services to Mr. Richardson, which still remain unpaid.

Mr. Minor alleged yesterday that large sums had been paid to Wood by Washburne for no apparent cause; that the two lawyers kept expensive offices in this city, the rent of which was charged to the estate. It is also charged that $20,000 belonging to the estate expended by Washburne is not accounted for by any legal vouchers, for which reason application has been made to the Surrogate for the removal of the trustees. They are also sued for an accounting, which is now going on before a referee.

Edward B. Merrill appeared for Mrs. Myra Wood, and Rollins & McGrath for the executors. Judge Cullen granted the motion.

AGAINST THE BANKS' CLAIMS.

SUIT TO SET ASIDE AN ALLOWANCE

The appeal of Mrs. Eliza J. Blake against the receiver of the Domestic Sewing Machine Company and the Domestic Manufacturing Company to set Andrew Kirkpatrick, amounting to $300,000, filed by company before it became insolvent, was heard by Vice-Chancellor Emery yesterday. Mrs. Blake and others who are relatives, are stockholders and allege that their stock is secured by bonds of the company, and they take exception to the banks being included in the list of bona fide creditors on the ground that dorsed. The banks represented are the Park, Phoenix, Chemical, Gartleld, First and Third National banks of New-York, and the Second National Bank of Cooperstown, N. Y.

Edward E. Poor, vice-president of the Park bank, refresents the banks as defendant in the suit. A doz en lawyers appeared at the hearing. There was a discussion as to the legal status of Mrs. Blake, as the Domestic Sewing Machine Company was an Ohio corporation and Mrs. Blake, a citizen of New-York, asked a New-Jersey court to decide a matter of debt between her and a foreign corporation. Counsel for Mrs. Blake said that the Ohio corpora-Jersey corporation that was in court. It was explained that Mrs. Blake held $29,000 of bonds originally issued by the Ohlo corporation, for which 1,80 shares of the capital stock of the New-Jersey company are held in trust as security for the payment of the bonds. tion was out of existence and that it was the New shares of the capital stock of the payment of the bonds.

Counsel for the receiver said that the latter had never received satisfactory proof that the bonds held by Mrs. Blake were for any bona fide ciaim that she might have against the insolvent company, or that the company had ever received actual benefits for the stock given in trust to secure payment of the bonds. The notes on which the banks had advanced money to the company were indorsed by the company and no proofs had been submitted to the receiver that the indorsements were not good. In the answer by the banks, read by counsel, they said that they had no knowledge that any bonds of the Ohio corporation were assigned to Mrs. Blake, and that she had not proved she had a valid claim to the 1,630 shares of stock. They also contended that this stock should be handed to the receiver for the benefit of the creditors. Certain mortgages were given to secure the bonds held by the plaintiff, but the defendants argued that the mortgages were not recorded in New-Jersey as required by law, and that therefore the plaintiff's claim on account of the bonds was not valid. The Court was asked to dismiss the plaintiff's petition. Vice-Chancelor Emery said that the claim appeared to show that the plaintiff was a creditor of both the Ohio and the New-Jersey corporations. He held that the petition might be so amended as to show that she was a valid creditor of the New-Jersey company. The case will be continued to-day. continued to-day.

PLANS FOR RAPID TRANSIT.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE METROPOLITAN TRAC-TION COMPANY OFFERS HIS ASSISTANCE.

The Rapid Transit Commission held its regular The Rapsi Transit weekly meeting yesterday behind closed doors. At the close of the session Secretary Delafield said: "A communication was read to-day from President Vreeland, of the Metropolitan Traction Company, saying that he was prepared to provide Mr. Parsons the chief engineer, with plans of the cable vaults on Broadway. Considerable excitement among the passengers fol-lowed. Hurley was balled out later in the evening, and will appear in the Yorkville Police Court this morning.

VESSELS DELAYED BY A STORM.

HEAVY NORTHEASTERLY GALES OFF THE AT-LANTIC COAST.

A storm has been raging for the last week on the Atlantic coast, and the vessels which sail from Southern, South America and West Indian ports have been delayed from twenty-four to twenty-eight hours in their arrival at this port. The delay has been caused entirely by northeasterly gales, which some instances prevented vessels from making any headway whatever. The Niagara, which arrived on Monday from the south side of Cuba, was two days late, and her captain reported that for forty-eight hours he made less than twenty-five miles to the northward, the less than twenty-five miles to the northward, the gales being so heavy that it was only possible to make willight headway against them.

Nearly every vessel that comes in reports passing vessels in distress or laboring heavily, and shipping men expect daily reports of losses of craft engaged in the coastwise trade. The Weather Bureau reports that the storms along the South Atlantic coast are probably over for a time.

The highest temperature reached yesterday was 56 degrees, and the lowest 46 degrees. The indications for this city to-day are for fair and continued cold weather, with northerly winds.

VERMONTERS IN RAILWAY RECEIVERSHIPS.

From The Burlington Free Press.

It is a coincidence worthy of note perhaps that General J. G. McCullough, of Bennington, Vt., is the receiver of the great Eric Railroad, now in progress of most successful reorganization; that Colonel Aldace F. Waiker, a Vermonter born and bred, who studied law in the office of George F. Edmunds in this city, is the receiver of the great Atchison Railroad system, of which he is likely to become president when his receivership ends, and that Frank G. Bisclow, of Miwaukee, who has been appointed one of the receivers of the Great Northern Pacific Railroad, is a native Vermonter, being a son of the late Dr. Thomas Bigelow, of this city. And all of them are men equal to and worthy of such great trusts.
